

Technical Delivery

Our Technical Delivery services provide critical skill sets for your business or IT objectives, filling gaps in your current team and providing skill solutions that will help ensure your technology initiatives keep pace with your business needs.

Business and technology innovation are inextricably linked and the demand for technical resources to enable this innovation is growing rapidly. However, operating a business and performing business change are two very different disciplines, we enable clients to achieve both.

Technimove's flexible resourcing service enables you to achieve business service assurance, operational readiness and service availability across technical support and engineering services.

With our agile solution we are often able to have resources on site within days of client engagement, allowing our clients to meet immediate, short, and long-term project deadlines.

We deliver where you cannot.

- Businesses may not have adequate skills to catalyse transformation while supporting operations.
- Our resources help reduce risks that impact transformation goals or operational SLA's.
- We help businesses achieve resource and skill elasticity to scale up or down their resources based on the needs of their short-term projects.

Why Choose Us?

- Our Accredited subject matter experts range from support engineers to technical specialists who can support clients across the entire transformation lifecycle.
- We have Security Cleared resources compliant with our ISO 27001 processes.
